

Aspect Autism Friendly

Making a real difference in the lives of Autistic individuals, together.

At Aspect, we believe we can be more inclusive of all disabilities simply by becoming more aware of the different and diverse ways each of us engages with our world. This understanding allows us to make small adjustments that recognise and include those differences.

Autistic people experience the world differently.

Whilst environments can bring joy, the nature of everyday places and spaces and behaviours of other people can be stressful and overwhelming. This means that Autistic people and families are often isolated from their community and face barriers in accessing travel, shopping, work, leisure and exercise.

Aspect's Autism Friendly team consults with various organisations, including airports, shopping centres, retailers, museums, art galleries, councils, sports, and stadiums. Guided by our Autism Friendly Framework and a 'working in partnership' model, we bring together Autistic and non-autistic perspectives to deliver practical, impactful solutions.

Together
we can create an autism-friendly Australia.

We are committed to making life better for people on the spectrum.

Aspect's Autism Friendly team are dedicated to partnering with organisations to create environments that genuinely support and include Autistic people.

Build autism understanding

Our training programs help organisations deepen their knowledge of autism and hidden disabilities, break down misconceptions and stigma and equip leaders and teams with the skills to create inclusive environments.

A comprehensive framework for change

We partner with organisations using our Autism Friendly framework to assess current practices, identify opportunities, and drive meaningful change.

Authentic collaboration

Our evidence-informed programs are co-designed and co-delivered with Autistic professionals, ensuring lived experience informs every step of your journey to accessibility.

Tailored consultancy support

We work closely with organisations to develop customised solutions that align with their unique needs and goals.

Partner with us

Creating an autism-friendly environment isn't just about inclusion—it's a smart business decision:

- Empowers your workforce: An inclusive workplace realises increased collaboration, loyalty, and innovation.
- Enhances customer experience: Accessibility resonates with Autistic individuals, their families, and the broader community.
- Strengthens your brand: Align with your values and stand out as a leader in social responsibility and inclusion.

Partnering with Aspect Autism Friendly means empowering your organisation to make meaningful change.

Together, we can create a world where Autistic people, and those with hidden disabilities, feel welcome, supported, and included.
