

CALLING AUTISTIC FATHERS

Take part in our research study

Autistic fathers are often left out of research, yet your experiences matter. This study aims to better understand the parenting journeys of Autistic fathers and improve support, services and visibility.

Who can take part?

You're invited if you:

- live in Australia
- are 18 years or older
- identify as Autistic (formal diagnosis or self-identified)
- identify as a father or dad (including biological, non-biological, adoptive, step, trans and non-binary parents who use this term).

What is involved?

- A short online survey (5–10 minutes)
- A one-on-one interview (45–60 minutes) using your choice of phone, video call or text-based conversation like email or messaging.

Further information

Email Dr Chris Edwards: chris.edwards@griffith.edu.au

Complete the survey:

tinyurl.com/arcapfathers

This research is being led by Aspect (Autism Spectrum Australia) and Griffith University, in partnership with a team of Autistic fathers.

Please be mindful of confidentiality when commenting or sharing. This project has been reviewed by the Griffith University Human Research Ethics Committee (Ref: 2025/345).

Research Centre
for Autism Practice

